

Woodneath Press Editorial Board Questions

Manuscript

- Does the book contain grammatical or spelling errors?
- Is the story/narrative cohesive and easy to follow?
- Does the story contain relatable characters (fiction)?
- Are the facts substantiated (nonfiction)?
- Can the reader clearly identify the genre and audience?
- Can the reader summarize the major plot points in 30 seconds?

Marketing

- Does the book lend itself to MCPL and Story Center programming?
- Is the book's audience broad or narrow/niche?
- Does the book represent the community and/or can the community relate to the narrative?
- Is the book title intriguing, interesting, catchy, etc.?
- Is the book cover designed well?
- Are either the book title or cover misleading or misrepresentative of the content?
- Does the synopsis explain the book well, accurately?

Mission

- Does the project represent the values of MCPL and the Story Center?
- Does the book fall within MCPL's collection development guidelines?